GRADE AND PAVING ORDINANCES OCCUPY ATTENTION OF COUNCIL

Three Introduced to Establish Grades and One is Finally Passed For Paving

PAVING ESTIMATES PAID

Considerable Sum Ordered Spent For Improvements on Various Streets—Petitions Received For the Paving Of Streets.

Grade and paving ordinances were taken up by council at its regular monthly meeting held in the borough chambers Tuesday evening with all councilmen present excepting Councilman J. K. Rickey who has presented his resignation because of removal from town. Grade ordinances introduced for first reading were those for Fifth street from Blythe alley to the borough line; Crest avenue from First to Fourth streets and Cherry alley from Third alley to Fourth street. A paving ordinance for Gelder alley from McMahan alley to a point 330 feet distant passed third and final reading and Borough Clerk Nickeson was instructed to advertise for bids on the work. The grade ordinances were ordered printed and posted.

No action was taken on the resignation of Councilman J. K. Rickey nor on the election of a councilman to succeed him.

A petition for paving on Sixth street between Crest and Meadow avenues and a petition for paving on Long alley between Ninth and Tenth streets were not acted upon.

Paving estimates were ordered paid as follows: Final estimate on Seventh street paving, to Hastings and Piper, $2,807.46; estimate for Meadow avenue, Fifth to Seventh streets, to Thomas Arrigo, $3,211.88; estimate for Meadow avenue, First to Fourth streets, Todd and Baker, $5,401.48. An estimate of $650 for building a wall on the west side of Meadow avenue was ordered paid Thomas Arrigo.

James Dawson and J. C. McKean were present objecting to the grade on Third street, which had been established at the corner of Lookout avenue. Joseph Barrow asked for a permanent grade on Eleventh street near Oakland avenue, and the matter was placed in the proper hands.

The report of Borough Treasurer Rush was received as follows:

Balance from last report	$38,487.87

WANT TO SEE TRUCK RUN SO START FIRE THAT IS DANGEROUS

Lad of Five Alleged to Have Struck Match and to Have Put It in Hay at Local Plant.

Because they wanted to see the fire truck run, as they said, a group of boys aged 5 to 8 are said to have set fire to some hay used as packing at a car on the Imeprial Glass company siding. Tuesday afternoon and to have endangered a portion of the plant. The boy who struck the match it was discovered by investigation was five years old. Tank blocks had been unpacked from hay in a freight car, and the hay left for the moment by the side of the car. The boys threw a match in the hay and scampered. The hay was practically burned and the car ignited before discovery was made. The factory fire fighters extinguished the blaze. The danger was in the fact that not far distant was a warehouse containing nitrate of soda. Had the fire advanced to this point, heavy damage would have resulted and the fire would have been almost impossible to fight for water turned on the nitrate of soda would have produced more fire.

INTENSE SUFFERING OVER FLOODED CITY

Hundreds of Erie People Made Homeless by Devastating Flood Coming From Cloudburst---Local People Have Relatives There

[illegible] lost, 2,000 persons to be homeless and millions of dollars in property damage, with a part of the city of Erie in the result of the cloudburst over Erie, early afternoon o'clock Tuesday evening that culminated in a flood that inundated a large section of the city.

The cloudburst and heavy precipitation caused dams south of the city to burst, letting out a flood of water that suddenly filled the main business streets to a depth of five feet and in some sections reaching to the second story windows of dwellings. Telegraph and telephone lines in many sections were put out of commission.

Several former Charleroi people live in Erie, and some of them in the stricken section, but all are believed to be safe. One message was received this morning from Dr. Oscar Hazlett, who is located in Erie. He is safe. Dr. J. Kitts Parsons formerly of Charleroi, who is located in Erie is believed to be entirely safe. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Yenny, whose home originally was in Charleroi, live in Erie, but are believed not to have suffered. The parents of Mrs. Yenny are Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Copeland of Fallowfield avenue. Miss Janet Spencer, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Spencer of Charleroi is visiting with the Yenny's in Erie. Owing to the fact that the Yenny family and Janet Spencer have been at a cottage near the lake front for the past week it will be some time before a message can be received from them. Chester Humphries, chemist for the Tri-Cities Water company is awaiting news from his brother, who is the water company superintendent in Erie and who had an office along Ninth street, where the flood was at its worst.

TWO BOYS INJURED WHEN HIT BY AUTO; DRIVER NOT BLAMED

When their toy wagon shot in front of an automobile driven by Logan Wingett of Charleroi, Tuesday night, Thomas H. Schafer, aged 8 and Harris Schafer, aged 4, sons of C. Schafer, who lives two miles north of Brownsville along the Albany road were injured.

Though warned, the boys had persisted in riding their wagon in a blind roadway to the brick highway, and it was while thus enjoying themselves they plunged in front of Wingett's auto. Another auto was coming in the other direction that would have struck the lads had they not been hit by the local man.

Thomas sustained a fractured skull and 20 stitches had to be taken in a scalp wound. Harris had a cut over his right eye.

The father of the two boys absolved Wingett from blame. Both boys are getting along as well as could be expected.

Division of Coal Consumption.

Of the 510,000,000 tons of coal consumed in America in 1914, 158,000,000 tons were used to generate industrial power, 184,000,000 were consumed in our homes and offices for cooking and heating; 97,000,000 were burned in the boilers of locomotives and steamboats, while the remaining 71,000,000 tons were consumed in our coke and gas plants.

Our Christian year 1915 corresponds to the year 5676 in the Jewish calander.

SCHOOL DISTRICT'S FINANCIAL STORY TOLD BY THE AUDITORS

Report for Fiscal Year Shows Receipts and Disbursements

EXPENSES TOTAL $72,150.15

Teachers Salaries Over $36,000—Disbursements Run Slightly Higher Than Receipts for the Year. State Appropriation $8,094.65.

When the school board met in regular session on Tuesday evening, it took up among the most important business of the evening the consideration of the report of auditors L. P. Flickinger and H. W. Wilson for the year ending June 30. Another important matter was that of the resignation of Robert Whitten as extra teacher and athletic instructor. Whitten was elected a week ago to the place but in his resignation he stated he was planning to enter business.

The auditors find the resources of the school district to be $319,571.27. Of this the largest item is that of real estate, buildings and furnishings, which are valued at $300,000. Taxes due amount to $13,054.25. June 1914 collections due the treasurer and due from the tax collector as per the 1914 report are $872.57.

In the liabilities bonds from 1911 to 1912 total $136,500, the largest being the $70,000 bond issue from 1912. A demand note amounting to $3,500 on a loan account is included in the liabilities and the net present worth is $179,571.27.

Receipts total $72,795.15 and the expenditures $72,054.80, leaving a balance on hand of $740.35. This includes the cash in treasury from the previous year of $5,164.05 in the list of receipts. During the year a loan of $6,000 was negotiated but it was paid back and shows up both in the list of receipts and expenditures in the auditor's report.

The heavy expense during the year was that of teachers' salaries, amounting to $36,315.26. Janitors' salaries totaled $6,092.00.

The best item in the list of receipts was that of 1914 taxes, in amount $42,217.24. The state appropriation was $8,094.65.

One thing that seems apparent from the report is that it cost the school district slightly more than the amount of receipts to run the schools during the fiscal year just closed, since there was a balance on hand at the beginning of $5,164.05, and a balance at the end of only $740.35, indicating expenditures overran receipts $4,423.70.

TWO CANDIDATES FILE THEIR PETITIONS FOR COUNTY OFFICES

Coroner James T. Heffran and Lafayette Culbertson Ask Places on Ballots—Clerks Kept Busy.

But two candidates for county office have their names placed on the official ballots to be voted for at the primaries in September. They are Coroner James T. Heffran, candidate to succeed himself and LaFayette Culbertson, candidate for the same office.

During the present month the clerks at the commissioners' office will be kept busy making preparations for placing the names of candidates in their proper places and ready for the printing of the ballots. The work of preparing the ballots for the regular fall election, they report, is not a circumstance to the preparation of ballots for primaries of the various party organizations in Washington county.

INQUEST HELD INTO MURDER

Much Beer on Hands at Cokeburg Christening, Witnesses Establish

JURY RETURNS ITS VERDICT

Fifty kegs of beer at a christening was a potent contributing cause of the murder of Milan Marunich at Cokeburg Sunday night. The fact that there were fifty kegs of beer at the house where the christening took place and which was attended by a large number of foreigners, was clearly established at the coroner's inquest held at Cokeburg by Coroner James T. Heffron.

After hearing the evidence in the case the coroner's jury brought in the following verdict:

"We, the jury, find that Milan Marunich came to his death on August 1, 1915, at Cokeburg, from hemorrhage in the abdomen as the result of a bullet wound. We further find that the said bullet wound was inflicted by a revolver in the hands of Kosta Markevich. We recommend that said Kosta Markovitch be held to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of the murder of the said Milan Marunich."

The jury was composed of Thomas Watkins, Richard Burger, Jethro Freeman, C. A. Richey, S. C. Coke, D. E. Smith.

CAMP SANITATION

Every fisherman, the hunter and lover of nature who turns to camp life should constitute himself a health officer for his own protection and comfort, says the state health commissioner.

There certain niceties of camp life which an experienced woodsman does not neglect but the city bred amateur who is used to daily garbage collection and open plumbing seems apt to lack sufficient ingenuity to properly improvise means to make up for the lack of these essentials.

Cooking and eating out of doors is an attraction if the process is not accompanied by swarms of flies and these are sure to appear if the wastes are not properly disposed of.

If your camp is near a stream go far enough back to be sure that heavy rains will not wash refuse into the stream, burn or dig a pit for it. Cover all waste which goes into it with a sprinkling of chlorinated lime and then with a light covering of earth. This will insure a freedom from fly breeding and noisome odors in the hot weather.

Be careful of your water supply. If it is from a stream and there are other camps or dwellings upon it, it is far wiser to boil all that is used for drinking and domestic purposes than to risk the possibility of typhoid fever. If a spring is used care should be taken that it is not open to contamination from washings or refuse or other pollutions.

If mosquitos abound for the sake of comfort and as a protection against the possibility of malarial infection, screens or netting should be used if conditions will permit and if not some anti-mosquito wash should be used such as oil of citronella. If bitten a mixture of one part of aqua-amonia and three parts of species of spirits of camphor will destroy the poison. By no means all species of mosquitoes are disease carriers but they are all comfort destroyers.

These precautions are simple enough and if made a part of the regular routine of camp life they will afford a reasonable protection to the health of the occupants of the camp and may likewise serve to protect other pleasure seekers along the streams as well as the regular consumers of water for domestic use.

CARELESSNESS IN MINES

It is horrifying to read the allegations by George S. Rice, chief engineer of the Bureau of Mines at Washington, relative to the inadequacy of precautions by mine employes, owners and managers for the protection of human life, and especially with regard to eliminating completely all danger from explosions of mine dust by the simple expedient of watering the dust and keeping it damp.

Mr. Rice hit hard when he officially declares that mine explosions must no longer be relied upon, criminal responsibility on the part of some one by declaring them "acts of God", says the Pittsburg Dispatch. They are in nearly every case due to either a careless and indifferent employe or to some manager or employer of the same kind. It might be well to reproduce here what Mr. Rice says: "In spite all that has been said and written during recent years about the prevention of explosions, it must be admitted that unsatisfactory progress has been made in this country in lessening the number of dust explosions. Out of 100 typical mines examined in one state, only 15 were taking any precautions, and in only a few of these was there enough systematic sprinkling or watering to give reasonable assurance that the coal dust always present in a coal mine was rendered incombustible."

While it may be just as difficult in the future as it has been in the past to fix responsibility, the report of the Bureau of Mines engineer will go far toward creating an impression on the public mind that all such explosions are of human origin and that an a Coroner's jury will have to do will be to find out, if it can, who was responsible, and start the steps toward punishing him, if living.

But in the face of many disasters, and the loss of thousands of lives, and of the peril of disregarding mine rules, there are many miners still taken into the courts for disregarding the safety precautions, who are fined or sent to jail. Even this does not stop the practice. It would not be so serious if the violator were to risk only his own life, but often he endangers hundreds, indeed is sometimes actually responsible for their death.

Life under ground is just as sacred as life above ground, and he who endangers it by use of prohibited match or dynamite, even though he has no wicked purpose in mind, should be given at least the same treatment as is meted out to the incendiary.

It is to be hoped that Charleroi got out of its Chautauqua what it put in, and there is reason to believe it did. To the mass of people who could not afford extensive tours for education or pleasure, the Chautauqua represented a godsend and an opportunity to enjoy a needed vacation. It taught the people what others are thinking elsewhere and in addition afforded them an opportunity for enjoyment in a clean, wholesome way that could not be otherwise than beneficial. The cost was small. There isn't any doubt about the useful place the Chautauqua occupies in affairs of today. The divergence of opinion relates to its conduct as a business enterprise.

Some day some one will get angry and our friend, the reckless autoist, will actually face the trouble into which he is persistently driving. Just because a hill has a pretty slope and promises an excellent engine test for the car, or just because a level stretch looks inviting, is no reason why drivers of machines should loose all the demons in their make of car. It is too dangerous. And by the way, temporary excitement, such as is incidental to the ringing of the fire alarm, distinctly does not provide speed license for any adventurous driver.

Nashville, Tenn., has been put in the hands of a receiver for restoration to solvency. The city's plight results from a thoroughly rotten administration of affairs in which pigheadedness, stupidity and dishonesty seem to have been cherished equally, declares a New York paper. The extraordinary course adopted to rescue the town will enlist attention where a political housecleaning would scarcely attract notice.

The man who cultivates the free use of profanity, and allows himself the unrestricted indulgence of the same on the streets or in public gathering places, rarely stops to consider how disgusting a person he makes himself. His habit adds nothing to the forcefulness of his conversation—rank it out—and does no good, while it really does harm.

If a newspaper doesn't submit an annual red tape circulation report to the authorities at Washington it draws a stiff fine. Now let's see the same degree of sternness about the Eastland investigation and the same degree of severity about the enfocement of a few laws that are matters both of common knowledge and common violation.

One Washington man was fined for auto speeding. But isn't it against the law of common custom to do anything but lecture and discharge a hero like that? Perhaps not in Washington.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

An office boy who was the greatest one as a failure was sent on one occasion by the city editor of a big newspaper to the office of a well known special writer to get some "copy." Pretty soon was heard the clatter of feet on the stairs and in burst the boy, running like all possessed.

"What's the trouble?" asked the city editor.

"Dev. but he was out and de joint was all locked up," said the boy breathlessly.

"Then why didn't you stay and wait until he came in as I told you?" roared the irate editor.

"Why, dere wuz a note on de door dat said "Return at once,'" muttered the boy, 'so I t'ought de best way I could do in doin' what youse wanted me to was to hustle back quick."

Mr. Hennery Peck was asked by a neighbor if he believes in woman suffrage, relates an exchange.

"Who? Me?" gasped Mr. Peck. "Gracious, no!"

Beat on making a convert of Mr. Peck the neighbor proceeded to argue the question.

"Now, just give me one reason why women should not be given the ballot, if you can."

"Well, my good sir," answered Mr. Peck, "I don't care to discuss the issue with you, but I will say this: "I find it bad enough to explain politics to my wife and I do not care to place her in a position where I would be compelled to have them explained to me—from the woman's viewpoint."

"Well, what difference would that make?" the neighbor insisted, "you would—"

"Safety first," snapped Mr. Peck; "that's all."

WOMAN REFUSES OPERATION

Louisville, Ky.—"I think if more suffering women would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound they would enjoy better health. I had fainting spells, bloated, and could hardly stand the pain in my left side. My husband insisted that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so thankful I did, for I am now a well woman. I sleep better, do all my housework and take long walks. I never fail to praise Lydia E. The Advice of This Charleroi Woman Is of Certain Value.

Many a woman's back has many aches and pains.

Oftimes 'tis the kidneys' fault.

That's why Doan's Kidney Pills are so effective.

Many Charleroi women know this.

Read what one has to say about it:

Mrs. Fred Jackson, 207 Prospect avenue, Charleroi, says: "About five years ago, I was troubled by a constant backache. If I did a little extra work, the pain in my back was intense. I didn't rest well at night and got up in the morning lame and stiff. If I stooped, sharp pains caught me and I could hardly straighten up. I also had rheumatic pains in my back and arms. I couldn't do my sweeping. Dizzy spells and hot flashes bothered me terribly. As Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in the family, I got a box at Piper Bros.' Drug Store and began taking them. One box practically cured me."

Now Is the Time To BUY FURS

Because we are holding a summer sale of Furs this month, and prices are down to the lowest point they have reached for years.

Indeed, it is the first sale of its kind we have held in ten years, because in that time we could find no legitimate reasons for having a sale. This is another demonstration of our constant endeavor to protect our customers, and play the game fair and square.

You will find the qualities right.

IN PRAISE OF THE LOAFER

Master of Inactivity Usually Invites Confidence and the Friendship of His Fellows.

As a profession, of course, loafing is not to be thought of, for the loafer then becomes an object of contempt and there is something wrong with the man who courts contempt. But loafing as an avocation is another thing; and the successful loafer in that sense is a person of parts, a source of wonder and an example for beginners. Loafing should not be confused with apathetic inactivity. Your true loafer is honest with himself and the world, loafing deliberately and openly, never apologizing for his aversion to labor; and his thoughts never descend below devising new schemes for pleasant loafing. The loafer who merely sits inert is a loiterer and will bear watching, but the loafer who is alive to what is going on about him and takes a healthy interest in life and affairs seldom arouses distrust or suspicion.

On the contrary, he usually invites confidence and the friendship of those less abundantly gifted. The social qualities are his particular hobby. He applies himself to the business of being useful to those who do not naturally claim attention; he cultivates a pleasant view of life which makes his smile sincere and his handclasp cheering.

Above all, he never exceeds the limitations of his natural endowments. If he is not possessed of an inherent nimbleness of wit he contents himself with making the most of his heavy wit. Affectation he dislikes, but he is never guilty, except by example, of condemning it in others.

OZONE JAG IS THE LATEST

Bracing Air of the Mountains Is Now Carried Into Stuffy Offices and Factories.

An ozone jag! One of the newest things, I assure you, and right on the heels of the departing jag that came by way of a morning bracer or an evening cocktail.

The ozone jag is meant to carry the air of a mountain top to your stuffy office or your still stuffier factory and workroom. Instead of having to sneak out when nobody is watching, to get your accustomed eye-opener over the bar, this ozone stimulant is handed around gratis by the boss himself.

Wherever introduced, everybody, from the office boy and typewriter to the head of the establishment, indulges in this new air beverage, which is warranted to make the palest cheek glow like a Gloucester fisherman's and create an appetite that will carry distress to the heart of the stoutest boarding-house mistress.

The ozone is turned loose where all may breathe it. "What is the actual effect?" I inquired of a Philadelphia manufacturer who has really witnessed the results of wholesale ozone jags. "Makes all hands work faster and yet grow fat," was the reply.

The latter result will make it unpopular in spots, but ought to encourage its sale to persons of the Connie Mack type. Factories in this town are really trying this plan to introduce more ozone by artificial means. Physicians tell me that even in large quantities it will do no harm, but will make the blood tingle as if a mild alcoholic stimulant had been administered.—Philadelphia Ledger.

He Got the Apples.

"Once upon a time," began the teacher, "two little brothers started to Sunday school on Sunday morning. Their way led past a fine orchard, where the trees were bending down with ripe, luscious apples. One of the brothers proposed going into the orchard and getting some fruit, but the other refused and sped away, leaving his companion greedily devouring the apples.

"Now, it happened that the owner of the orchard saw them, and the next day rewarded the good boy who refused to steal his apples by giving him a shilling. He got a prize for his honesty, and what do you suppose the other boy got for his dishonesty?"

"He got the apples!" yelled every member of the class.

Audacity of Woman Spies.

A climax to the audacity of spies is said to have been reached in the case of a woman pretending to be English and giving her name as Miss Booth, who, in connection with another woman calling herself Baroness de Rosen, organized a charitable work at the Gare du Nord, in Paris, which they called "For the Wounded and for the Refugees." The former, suspected of illicit communication with the Germans, passed before a court-martial and was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, while the latter, against whom no tangible proof could be produced, was invited to leave French territory within 48 hours.

Lost Art.

They had been sitting around the table at the club all evening as usual talking about the war—always the war. There fell a little silence at last and then Jones spoke. "Is there any person present," said he, "who can tell me what it was we used to talk about before the war?"

British Colonial Taxes.

England's colonies do not pay direct taxes. That principle was established in the American war for independence. Just now the colonies are making voluntary grants and are establishing the principle that they can only be petitioned for free gifts.

GREAT CHANGE IN WARFARE

That of Fifty Years Ago Is Wonderfully Different From the Present European Conflict.

You have only to talk with some Civil war veteran about his campaigns to realize that in many ways war of today is exactly the reverse of war 50 years ago.

The soldier of 1863 had to endure many weary marches. He had to make the best of a camp life that often stretched over long and monotonous weeks. Food was of the roughest, being chosen more because it could be transported easily, and did not easily spoil, than because of its nutritive value. Battle when it came was welcomed. It broke the routine of standing guard, drilling, marching and performing disagreeable camp duties. There were hours of hard fighting, dramatic moments of heroism, flag waving and shouting and cheering. Then the battle was over and the wearisome round of preparing for more battle began again.

In the war in Europe, every ounce of a soldier's energy is saved that can be saved by transporting him by train and motor car. Food of the best is supplied him, even if that means the citizen population must live on short rations. Instead of preparation for battle occasionally broken by battle, there is now almost continuous battle, only occasionally broken by truce or marching. The firing lines are engaged in firing virtually all the time. Flag waving has ceased. There is no more of that spurring by appeals to hot temper and patriotism, so essential a duty of the old-time general, to perform.

The Civil war veteran grew tired to death of waiting. He prayed for action. The modern soldier wearies of the roar of cannon, the rattle of musketry. He prays for rest.

EATS HIS WAY TO A JOB

Fraternity Bulldog Becomes Police Canine After a Series of Odd Digestive Feats.

Psi is a brindle bull. He was bred in the country and is not well acquainted with city ways. Until recently he was the darling of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity in Evanston, Ill.—but his lack of education overbalanced their love for him.

Psi, visiting at the Sigma Chi house some time ago, ate up a $300 davenport while in a state of embarrassment. A few days later he decorated the lining of his tummy with a $175 Oriental rug.

He made another faux pas when he chewed his way into the frat house through a beautiful oak panel, and recently he dined on three $50 overcoats—pockets and all.

So the fraternity presented Psi to Desk Sergeant Pestka of the Evanston police. The sergeant thinks Psi will have many good meals when the "Weary Willies" increase. He's making a "police dog" of Psi.

on trial beside a package of any other corn flakes on the market. The jury will bring in a verdict of "guilty"—guilty of being the finest corn flakes ever made.

The New Post Toasties are crisp and appetizing, with a true corn flavour; and they don't mush down when milk or cream is added.

But here's the real test. Take a handful, fresh from the package, and eat them without cream or milk. Mighty good, aren't they?

Notice the little "puffs" on each flake—a distinguishing characteristic—resulting from the new method of cooking and toasting, which also brings out and enhances the wonderful, true corn flavour.

VISITING IN PENSYLVANIA FIRST TIME IN 37 YEARS

Mr and Mrs. John Grover, of Red Oak, Iowa, were guests the last week at the home of the former's brother, Joseph Grover, southwest of Beallsville. Before coming to this community Mr. and Mrs. Grover visited at Paisley, Greene county, Mr. Grover's former home, also in Fayette county, with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Heath, of Smithfield. Mr. Grover had not visited his old home for 37 years and noted many changes in Washington and Greene counties since he left. Mr. Grover, speaking of this year's crops in Iowa, stated that the prospects were good. He has in 40 acres of corn which is doing extra well. Last year he harvested 10,065 bushels of oats, getting an average of 65 bushels to the acre. He does not raise wheat. Mr. and Mrs. Grover returned to Fayette county following their visit here.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF STARTING OF MINES BRIGHTENS THINGS

With the announcement the latter part of the week that the mines at Hazelkirk and other points along the Pigeon Creek valley would be opened for work, conditions in the community have taken on a brighter aspect, and business promises to resume some of its former activity. Business in the community the past year has been very dull in all lines and business men of the community are glad to hear that work is to be resumed. Quite a number of miners in the community who had been out of employment for several months have left this section in search of work. It is stated that the mines will be run full time and work given to hundreds of men, many of whom have had unsteady work for some time.

TOTAL BALANCES FALL MILLIONS SHORT IN JULY AS COMPARED WITH JUNE

The statement of the state treasury at the conclusion of July business shows the total balances to have fallen over a million dollars as compared with the amount they contained at the close of June business. The total is lower than the general balance has been in years and about equals what was contained at this time last year.

The receipts for the month were $1,525,059.88, of which $1,445,669.36 was for the general fund, $9,142.02 for the school fund from escheats and other resources and $70,248.50 for the motor vehicle fund together with transfers of $132,591.50 from the motor to the general fund and $83,097.01 from the general to the school fund.

The payments were $2,799,941.15, of which $2,324,508.15 was from the general fund and $475,433 from the motor fund.

The balances aggregate $5,497,136.01 made up as follows: General fund, $3,476,972.04; sinking fund, $822,455.03; school fund $102,712.94 and motor fund $95,000. The total balances at the end of June amounted to $5,772,019.28.

In a short time half a million dollars will be put into the game propagation and bounty funds and $163,000 into the state fire insurance fund. These moneys are now in the general fund. Later on the Workmen's Compensation Insurance fund will also be established.

A lawn fete will be held on the Eagles Lawn, Wednesday evening August 4 for the benefit of William Grant. Tickets 15 cents. 40-tf

Cooking Process.

To keep milk fresh in warm weather or to cool any liquid in a bottle dip a cloth in cold water, wrap the cloth around the jug or bottle and leave in a cool place, preferably in a draft. This method of cooling is much more effectual on account of the evaporation produced than if the jug or bottle has been placed in cold water.
